

BACKLASH IN "HIGH PRESSURE" LOBBYING FUND

TEXAS AND FLORIDA OUT

Subscription Campaign Is Termined Education by Lobby Bodies

Washington, Nov. 6.—The Florida Legislature, various municipalities and counties in the state and between 100 and 200 Texas banks responded to a "high pressure" subscription campaign of the Southern Taxpayers' League last year, the Senate lobby committee learned today.

From the files of the two organizations and testimony of J. A. Arnold, manager of both organizations, the committee learned that the workers of the organization got the money from Florida and that eight drafts drawn on Texas banks yielded the rest. More than $4000 came out of Florida, the remainder from Texas, the inquiry revealed. Of the Florida contributors a $2000 lump sum subscription was made up by the State Legislature.

"EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN"
Arnold termed the eight draft campaign on Texas banks an "educational campaign." He said he didn't expect all Texas banks to accept drafts in honor, then he added they called the attention of the banks to the work of the two organizations. Similar "draft campaigns" were carried on in Georgia and Alabama.

A letter from Arnold to a Mr. J. L. LaFollette, La., was received in which he said his idea was to "put down the opposition" in order to put "courage into the President" and that "the House of Representatives" was used in the record.

Another letter revealed the organizations were reluctant to have their affairs probed. The St. Paul Chamber of Commerce sought information concerning the activities of the Taxpayers' League, but Arnold wrote to J. W. Grove of Minneapolis, state chairman of the league, saying, "I doubt the wisdom of submitting such information to contributors."

REFUSED INFORMATION
"Why did you refuse the information?" Senator Walsh (D) of Montana asked.
"Because there was no occasion for giving it," Arnold answered.

"Giving out the money you could, you thought it unnecessary to refuse the information," Walsh continued.

"There was no occasion," replied the witness.
"Did you have anything to collect money," Caraway (D) of Arkansas, chairman of the committee, asked.
"Oh, no. We just thought it was unnecessary," he answered.

"Here is a man whose letter intimates your whole purpose was to collect money," Caraway went on, holding up more correspondence. "Did you feel no obligation to clear your honor?"

"We turned it over to the state concerning the 'product' of the two organizations which collected money for their high-lift campaign," Walsh replied. "The money was given by the witness in previous testimony, that the 'product' of the two organizations were sent out and that 'members' of the two organizations were given the benefit of 'expert advice' in the tariff and tax matters by the organization."

PRINCE MAXIM OF BADEN DIES; ALL 44 YEARS

Negotiated Kaiser's Abdication and the Terms of World War Armistice Constantine, Germany, Nov. 6 (AP).—Prince Maximilian von Baden, 44, the last imperial German chancellor, died today. He negotiated the Kaiser's abdication and the terms of the armistice which ended the World War.

Prince Maximilian was heir to the Grand Duchy of Baden. Prince Maximilian had been suffering for a year from arterial trouble. About three weeks ago he fell a fall ill and broke two ribs necessitating removal from Baden. He had been in the Municipal Hospital, where his condition grew rapidly worse.

His wife, Marie Louise, nee Duchess of Brunswick-Lüneburg, a royal princess of Great Britain, was summoned to his bedside Saturday with their two children, 28-year-old Berchold and 27-year-old Marie Alexandra. The latter is married to Prince Wolfgang von Lieke.

He was unconscious then, but Sunday rallied and seemed better until last night, when he collapsed.

Prince Max, as he was more widely known, was a prominent chancellorship in the closing days of the World War, Oct. 3, 1918. At that post he was named by President Wilson and the allied leaders, the terms under which armistice finally was granted, and he was named by the Kaiser as the abdication of the former Kaiser.

He subsequently was subjected to attack by National Socialists in July, 1919, he left to reside temporarily in Switzerland. After his retirement from the chancellery, Prince Max was detested by the Royalists because they claimed he had brought about the emperor's abdication, and was suspected by the Republicans because of his royal blood. Consequently he never returned to political life.

Prince von Schaumburg-Lippe is a family. Princess Victoria von Schaumburg-Lippe, 63-year-old sister of the ex-Kaiser, who recently initiated divorce proceedings against her husband, Alexander von Schaumburg-Lippe, is the Princess' mother. Her husband, Prince von Schaumburg-Lippe, is 50 years of age, resulted in her complete alienation from the former imperial family.

The wrecked plane was an all-metal, biplane, similar to the one flown by the late Baron von Hunsfeldt, in which Capt. Hunsfeldt, late Baron von Hunsfeldt, and Comdr. James Fitzmaurice of the Irish Free State Air Force made a successful and west crossing of the Atlantic.

War Veteran Breaks Family Grip Held on Court 70 Years

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—Yesterday's elections brought to an end the judicial control of Richmond County which one family has held for an unbroken period of 70 years.

For the first time in 18 years County Judge and Surrogate, J. Nor Eberman, who succeeded his father, Peter Eberman, will go out of office.

The defeat of this veteran, the regular Democratic candidate, was a surprise to the family organization Democrats and Republicans alike. Eberman was about as comparatively young, lawyer, who was a World War veteran, 11 years ago, lost his right leg during the drive in Alsace-Lorraine.

THREE U. S. SCIENTISTS GOING TO THE ARCTIC IN GRAF ZEPPELIN

GRAND TO CARRY 48 PASSENGERS

Seek to Establish Ice Basins on Polar Ice for Future Explorers

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, carrying three American and nine other scientists as a polar expedition sponsored by the International Aero-Arctic Society, may land in an unexplored region of the Arctic sea next spring, in order that the passengers may survey at their leisure that most peril-fraught territory.

Dr. Walter Bristolin, treasurer of the society, today told of preparations for the journey, which he said will be made in safety and in comparative comfort.

He described apparatus for transmitting photographs, particularly of weather charts, by air; for making ocean depth soundings from the air; and for recording by radio, in the Graf Zeppelin, meteorological data which will be gathered without human manipulation by automatic recording instruments in five balloons that will float in the vicinity of the frozen country. All of this equipment, he added, has been perfected and is ready for use.

U. S. TO CO-OPERATE

Dr. Bristolin said formal requests for co-operation are to be made to the navy and commerce departments while he is in Washington, particularly with a view to receiving weather reports by radio.

"One of the chief goals of the society," explained Dr. Bristolin, "is to determine the feasibility of establishing bases on the ice for the Arctic region, for the use of future explorers."

The approximately 100 members of the Aero-Arctic Society, he continued, "represent 22 nations. They believe that previous polar explorations in dirigibles were unsuccessful, because the dirigibles were too small, and too small."

SAFE TRIP, SAY ENGINEERS

That is why they have contracted with the Graf Zeppelin Company for use of its great vessel, and the ship's commander, Dr. Eckener, said he believes that the journey will be made in safety far greater safety, in fact, than the Graf's round-the-world trip.

Under command of Capt. E. A. Lehmann, the Graf Zeppelin, with the 12 scientific expeditionists, is expected to remain away from its base at Tromsø, Norway, and Fairbanks, Alaska, for a period of 90 days. Emergency provisions for 90 days will be carried and full equipment for traveling on foot, including sleds, will be taken along. The ship will be manned by its regular crew of about 35.

2 N. H. MAYORS RE-ELECTED

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 6 (INS)—Huge majorities, on the basis of complete returns today, returned to office Mayor Arthur E. Morgan in this city and Robert W. Brown, Concord's youngest mayor.

Morgan received a majority of 3675 over his Democratic opponent, C. J. Belanger, who polled 9088 votes.

Mayor-elect Brown, chosen by the Concord Board of Aldermen to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor Olin H. Chase, was given a two-year term by Concord voters, with a vote of 4665, as compared to 691 for Stanley E. Crofford.

DEMOCRATS ARE DEVIOUS OVER VIRGINIA

Glad to See Those Who Bolted Al Smith Last Year Are Back in the Fold

Washington, Nov. 6—The Democrats in the capital have not had much to crow about for the past year, were a pretty jubilee for today as they surveyed the off-year election results.

Virginia's smashing return to the party fold was the high point of Democratic rejoicing.

Indications today are that Virginia has elected Dr. John Garland Pollard, regular Democrat, to the governorship by the greatest margin ever given any candidate in the Old Dominion—this in the face of the heroic efforts made by the Democratic and anti-Smith Democrats to repeat and consolidate the Hoover victory in Virginia last year.

Analysis of the Virginia vote discloses that most of the Democrats who bolted Al Smith a year ago came back to the party fold and this is considered by Democratic leaders as indicative of what may be expected throughout the South. The Republicans, sided and abetted by the Anti-Smith leaders, of whom Bishop Canning, Jr., was the most prominent, made a real effort to hold Virginia.

The result was an overwhelming defeat for Bishop Canning and probably the greatest Democratic victory ever achieved in Virginia.

The result for Prof. Brown was just about the normal Republican vote of the State.

DUANE ASKS RECOUNT IN WAITEMA

Ex-Mayor Beaten by Deal in a Close Race: Confident of Victory

Waltham, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mayor Patrick J. Duane will demand a recount.

Mayor Henry F. Deal was re-elected with 5727 votes.

Duane obtained the necessary papers to be circulated for the 150 signatures for a recount and said he would file them with the city clerk tonight or tomorrow morning.

It was confident that a recount would give him victory. His supporters pointed out that a block of 17 ballots was thrown out in Ward 7, a Duane stronghold, because they were not marked with crosses, although the voters intentions were obvious.

The successful candidates for council at large were Edmund A. Bros (re-elected) 6105; Alexander R. Smith (re-elected) 5050; William E. Sawyer 5000; John R. Walsh, 4958. Mrs. Julia Tinker, ward clerk for re-election, polled 4375.

Ward councilmembers elected: Ward 1, William A. Richter; Ward 2, Thorton M. Gill; Ward 3, John J. Thorton; Ward 4, William E. Sawyer (re-elected); Ward 5, Winfield F. R. R. (re-elected); Ward 6, Bartlett; Ward 7, James J. Ball.

The proposed site for a new high school on Lexington St. was voted down, 4931 to 4923.

Bodies of Archangel Dead Are in France

Paris, France, Nov. 6 (INS)—Cloudy weather and squalls of rain obscured the harbor here today as the Soviet ship Lieut. Schmidt arrived with the bodies of 86 American soldiers and one Frenchman, who died in the Archangel campaign in northern Russia at the close of the World War.

By order of Commandant Noy, commander of the port, full military honors were paid the bodies as they were lowered ashore. A full salute and French troops fired a guard of honor.

Spiro, Okla., Nov. 6 (AP)—Steam had snuffed out a flaming gas well here today after it had burned out of control since Friday, when it was ignited by friction.

The well, the property of the Red Bank Oil Company, was fed by from 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

CLOSEST GUESSER TO CURLEY'S PLURALITY TO RECEIVE AUTO

WINNER TO BE MADE KNOWN
SATURDAY

Boston Evening American to Supervise Opening of "Ballot Box"

How near did you guess to Mayor-elect Curley's margin of victory?

If your guess was the closest of the many thousand filed at the Curley headquarters during the past week, you will become the owner of a new Ford auto.

About 50,000 to 70,000 persons made guesses as to the margin of the next mayor's ballot success, and filed their guesses on slips locked in a huge box at the headquarters in Province st.

These guesses ranged from 4000 up to 400,000. One man even wrote,
"I hope he wins by a million."

Now that the contest of Boston's greatest thriller in elections has closed somewhat, Mayor-elect Curley is eager to learn what friend has won the automobile.

There can be no fluke on this contest—somebody positively will be awarded the machine. The reason for this is that the contest did not specify an exact guess, but that the person guessing closest to the actual Curley lead would be the winner.

SETTLED OFFICIALLY

Just what that Curley figure is can be known for a day or two until the official count is announced. Newspaper tabulations often vary a few hundred one way or another in the rush of collecting returns. Therefore, the Curley committee will award the car only on the basis of an official count.

In order to insure absolute fairness in determining the name of the lucky guesser, the Curley ballot box committee has requested the Boston Evening American to select the opening of the great "secret."

The Boston Evening American has invited a committee of three prominent Curley leaders to join in the ceremony of opening the ballot box. The committee met at the newspaper office this morning at 9 o'clock and discussed plans for "lifting the award."

ANNOUNCEMENT THURSDAY

On this honorary committee are:
Ex-Senator James H. Brennan of Charlestown; prominent attorney
F. B. Howland of Boston; internationally known motion picture producer, and Dr. Helen I. Doherty of Boston, president of the newly formed Women's Better Government League of Boston.

As a permanent committee, the Curley ballot box contest members will still function. They are Edmund Dolan, broker; Francis Mc-Laughlin, jeweler; and Henry La-carus, attorney.

The final announcement of the winner probably will be determined in time to print the name in the Saturday editions of the Boston Evening American.

The chances are strong in favor of a woman or girl driving this new Ford home, as more than two-thirds of the guesses were made by the fair sex.

SOVIETS PLAN
ATLANTIC HOP

New York, Nov. 6.—Hoping to be first to fly around the world by airplane, west to east, the four Russian aviators who last Saturday completed a 22,500-mile flight from Moscow to New York have wired the Russian Air Ministry "to permission to fly across the Atlantic."

If the permission is granted, the Russians hope to hop from Harbor Grace, N. F., to England, in three weeks.

They plan stops in England and France before returning to Moscow to complete the world flight in a heavier than air machine.

Parties Split Even
in N. Y. Assembly

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Early returns on elections for members of the state assembly failed to show any change in the political composition of the lower house of the Legislature.

With all but eight of the assembly districts outside of New York city reporting, the Democrats had gained one seat from the Republicans in the first district of Oneida county which last year was won by the Democrats.

Guess Who the Lucky Guesser Is

From the expression on the face of Miss Lorella O'Brien, sitting atop of the Curley victory margin guess chest, she is close in, if not the actual winner of the Ford car. But she will be given some argument as between 50,000 and 70,000 individuals deposited their estimates in this box at the Curley headquarters. (Boston Evening American

ASKS BOMBING OF VOLCANO

Honolulu, Nov. 5.—Immense of an eruption of lava on the island of Hawaii has brought forth an unusual proposal from the Volcano Research Association.

Levin A. Thurston, president of the association, is urging the army air force to undertake, if a lava flow occurs, to halt or divert it by dropping bombs with the object of destroying the lava "tubes" that feed the flow.

The army authorities, though believing the project feasible if conditions at the time and place are suitable, are unwilling to undertake it, because of the possibility of responsibility for damages to other property.

Puts Candidacy Up to People, 1885 Sign

Honolulu, Nov. 6.—A total of 1885 voters came to the office of Mayor Fred G. Bingham and signed his nomination papers for re-election.
The mayor had stated that he could have the papers in his office from 2 to 8 p. m. for all who cared to sign them, and if a sufficient number of signatures were obtained he would be a candidate—or a third supersuasive term, otherwise he would not run again.

So far there are four other candidates in the field: Atty. William H. Dillon, Alderman James J.
Dowd, former Senator James A.
Martin, and Stephen Monahan.

Saved From Burning
Auto Just in Time

Millinocket, Me., Nov. 6.—Calvin
Adams, a lumberman, had a narrow escape from burning to death beneath his wrecked car, according to a report received here from the Rice farm, up in the lumber woods.
The car driven by Adams left the road and overturned, caught fire, and the driver barely escaped.
He was extricated just in time by passing autoists.

Eastland, Tex., Nov. 6 (AP).—
While the youth he accused murdered unintelligently to himself in the prisoner's chair, Woodrow Davis, 15, testified: district court that Clyde Thompson, 17-year-old schoolboy, shot and clubbed to death two oil field workers "just to see them kick."

For more than two hours the boy described the killing Sept. 2, 1928, of Lucian and Leon Shook, brothers and stuck to his story under a stern cross-examination.
He admitted, although he was a companion of Thompson at the time of the slaying, he had been promised immunity in return for his testimony.

Young Davis said that he and Thompson and Woodrow's brother,

"I'm going to kill Lucian Shook,"

"I asked him what he had against Lucian, and he said nothing," that he was going to shoot him to see him kick.
The three boys induced Lucian

SENATE SPEEDS UP ACTION ON BRIBERY BILL

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Senate's decision to limit each member to 10 minutes for discussion of an amendment proved effective at today's session in speeding progress on the troublesome bribery bill.

As soon as it met the Senate began clearing up amendments by Representatives of the finance committee to the anti-bribery and anti-gratuities bill, H. R. 10,000.

Without a record vote the Senate approved an amendment to increase from 45 to 60 per cent the duty on carboys and electrodes used in the manufacture of motion picture projection lamps.

Chairman Root of the committee said reports of the small increase had doubled for the first five months this year and was increasing similar American articles.

Senator Odell, Republican, Nevada, urged the increase on behalf of producers of graphic arts, motion picture, and Senator Hiram Bingham, Republican, West Virginia, for the medical profession.

The small carboys are used in delicate medical lamps.

The Senate also approved without a roll call the existing duty of 60 per cent on valves on gauge glass tubes, which the House raised to 65 per cent.

Progress was interrupted by a clash between Senator and Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, who accused finance Republicans with deliberately recommending rate increases on certain articles as a way to force Democrats to seek re-election.

Harrison asserted this had been the purpose in the unsuccessful fight of the committee to decrease the rate on china, say, Bingham, Democrat, Georgia, sponsored the move for a higher duty.

Harrison also charged the Republican committee with voting for the House increase on the anti-gratuities bill after recommending elimination of the increase.

Root denied there had been any "deception."

LEWIS FIGHTS INJUNCTION

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP)—John I. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, today in answering injunction proceedings started by officials of the Illinois district of the court to prevent his unsettling them, made 10 charges of corruption against the State officials.

He also definitely charged that President Harry Fishwick misappropriated $25,000 in union funds.

Lewis denied the Illinois district was an autonomous organization with authority and power to carry on without supervision of the international union.

The answer also denied Fishwick was an official at the time injunction proceedings were started, inasmuch as the charter of District 13 had already been revoked, and therefore Fishwick and others were not entitled to recourse to a court of equity.

He was killed when he ran across the highway into a car going east, and was run over by a second automobile traveling in the opposite direction. The drivers were held by police.

AUCTION BRIDGE GIRL IS ACCUSED OF CHLOD MURDER

Student Fuleta of Bidding Auction: South passing, West, with minimum strength, bids one Diamond North, though holding three suit stoppers including Diamonds, is too weak to bid No Trump with a passing partner.

East's bid would be sound even had his partner passed.

Contract: East's forcing take-out bid of two Hearts is related to three by West, holding normal support for the suit. East didn't bid his partner's support, then bids three No Trumps for game, the distribution of the hand favoring its play at No Trump, unless West holds better than normal support for Hearts. West, not holding much better support, allows the No Trump bid to stand.

The Play

South opens the Queen of Clubs and East holds up on the principle that lacking sure game it is advisable to exhaust leader's partner of the suit led if possible before beginning the development of the hand, provided no shift is feared. South is the second lord of Clubs and leads the 4 of Diamonds, playing Dummy's Queen.

North now leads the Queen of Spades, sacrificing a sure trick in the suit in order to remove Dumny's only entry, thus preventing the Declarer from bringing in the suit after his establishment.

Then Declarer wins with Dumny's Ace, and realizes that his only hope for game now rests upon the establishment of a long Heart and the successful finessing of the 10 of Spades.

The Spade finesse wins and Declarer then leads a low Heart to retain control of the suit while still holding Clubs and Spades protected.

North wins with the Queen and after making his Ace of Diamonds, leads the 9 of Hearts. East comes up with the Ace and South refuses. The Heart suit thus fails to break, and Declarer plays his high Spade and high Club and still has the last trick to North's 7 of Hearts.

North's successful defense of the hand, resulting in saving game, was due to two brilliant plays. First, holding up on the first Diamond trick.

Had he won it, Declarer upon getting in, would lead a low Diamond allowing an adversary to win, and would still have a Diamond left with which to put Dumny in for three Diamond tricks.

The second brilliant play was the sacrifice of the King of Spades to remove Dumny's entry. Had either of these plays not been made, Declarer would have gone game.

My husband and I were consulting your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing correct answers.

CURLEY STAYS AWAY TO KEEP HOME QUIET

To insure peace and quiet for Mrs. Curley, Mayor-Elect James M. Curley did not go to his home in Jamaica Plain until an early hour this morning.

The next mayor remained at his headquarters for the major portion of the evening, delivering a "victory speech," shaking hands and watching the Curley victory parade start.

Curley was there, because, as he put it, "I want to keep all this away from home."

The old-fashioned victory parade of the Curley followers swept through Newspaper Row and down town Boston after the former mayor had addressed them at his campaign headquarters in Providence.

Curley mounted a table and made a speech which was continuously interrupted by shouts and cheers. The big crowd sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and the oration was started all over again.

It was said that a year and a half ago, he said, "that Curley would take Boston like Grant took Richmond, and we did it."

A deafening roar greeted him. He anticipated the kind of a campaign this would be, he went on. "To my mind, this is a victory for clean politics."

"I have, and I think my followers have, had difficulty in executing that restraint of gentlemen when they know they are not dealing with gentlemen."

Another roar answered back. Frederick W. Mansfield received the returns of the mayoral contest last night in his campaign room on the seventh floor of the Parker House. With him were Mrs. Mansfield, their son, Walter, and several relatives, friends and campaign workers.

The defeated candidate with his family arrived at the hotel shortly after 10 o'clock and remained there until about 10:30 o'clock, when he proceeded to his residence in Elm Hill street, Roxbury. Up to the time of his departure, Mansfield seemed confident of victory but when it was announced over the radio at that time that Curley was leading by more than 15,000 his hopes faded.

Mrs. Pigeon Thanks Voters for Trust

Boston's newly elected woman member of the school committee, Mrs. Elizabeth West Pigeon, found campaigning pleasant despite the hard work and nervous excitement, she informed the Boston American today when assured of her victory.

Mrs. Pigeon, who led the field of 12 candidates, said: "I met with courtesy everywhere and was free by granted a place at the meeting and rallies of the majority candidates. I thank all who worked so hard for me in my behalf and shall give the best in me to justify their friendship and faith."

"The people of Boston have placed a great responsibility on me. I interpret their vote as something more than regard for myself. I am sure the voters believe earnestly that the school committee should have at least one woman member and that they also recognized a fact which I tried to emphasize in my campaign that the welfare of the schools demand a mutual understanding of the home and the school. I promise my best efforts and my best work to the duties of the office."

After 8 o'clock and remained there until about 10:30 o'clock, when he proceeded to his residence in Elm Hill street, Roxbury. Up to the time of his departure, Mansfield seemed confident of victory but when it was announced over the radio at that time that Curley was leading by more than 15,000 his hopes faded.

Revolt Insurance Banned in Mexico

Mexico City, Nov. 6.—The Department of Ministry and Commerce and Labor today revoked permission of insurance companies to issue policies to cover damage suffered in revolution, coup d'etat or strikes, on the ground that insurance agents spread alarming rumors in order to sell policies and that those rumors work to Mexico's detriment abroad.

ESCAPE AT LACKING AT AIRPORT

By GEORGE W. HANLIN

The next thing the Boston Municipal Airport needs is a few additional men to the airport's speedboat, mounted on its truck. And that statement is full of food for thought.

With the present air-minded administration at the helm, we are sure that there will be a couple of large tanks of some chemical fire extinguisher, but cutters, water egress, first aid kit, and, equally important, a man always on duty during the day time flying hours. This man should be sitting on the machine, which should be parked in a prominent place at the airport, waiting for the slightest sign of trouble by one of the boys in the air.

Of course, we are not trying to belittle the attempts made by everybody, grass-roots, mechanics, pilots, managers, police and fire department, in trying to save the unfortunate "Frank" Carter and Jack Johnson, when they "cracked up." As usual, when the gang realized what had occurred they all came out in force, but when they arrived with their fire-fighting equipment, they were too late. No argument is being presented by the effect that the plane could have been saved from the terrible fate awaiting them, though neither of them knew what was happening after they hit the water. There were previous seconds lost, seconds that cannot be regained in a case like this. These seconds might have been saved if this truck, speedboat, or what have you, was a reality, with the attendant sitting on the seat, waiting for a call.

We wrote some months ago but the necessity of a speedboat, and now we have a speedboat, mounted on a truck chassis. The question arises why this same truck could not be used for a general purpose "job," with someone having the truck of being with it all the time. The actual cost of such an installation is so low as to be almost negligible, now that the "Frank" chassis is owned by the city. As to the cost, such an installation would pay for itself in just one trip, in which it might have a chance of getting the famous under control before it was too late.

Of course, we realize that an airplane, when it crashes fire, is gone, but there is that chance for a bit of live-saving work to be carried out.

We know that Mayor Nichols' excellent airport bosses, Park Commissioner William P. Stone, and "Super" Albert L. Edson, will take all necessary steps to make this thought a reality.

And the sooner the quicker.

Flying down from Athol in a Challenger engine Command-Aire, Bud Russell brought "Doc" Tatt to Bill Cameron, of that town, to look over the Challenger engine. Budna offered for sale by Curtis Wright.

The boss spent most of the day at the airport, and took a first ride in the Robin. What the decision was in known only to Bill Cameron, in charge of sales for the company.

That sportsman-pilot, Andy Ivonoff, almost divulged the secret he has been keeping from us for all these weeks when he hinted that the airport would sit up and use notice in the near future, then he brings on a new airplane. What this ship is and what Andy's mind to use it for, still remains a secret.

With the cool breeze sweeping the airport fields again, some of the boys who don't own airplanes, but who are employed by the large companies on the field, are turning their eyes toward the southernly 4th St. premises of warm sun and don't show.

Chiefly among these rovers is George Barry, erect ticket seller for Curtis Wright. Every time George first came to the airport, at first about the time, he was started thinking about the "Frank" tragedy toward the south. And the funny part of it is that he is really wired up there, without much trouble.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. It is simply pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure. Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous straining. Take habitually before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Vehicles Must Remain Safe Distance Apart

Section 8 (a) "The driver of a motor vehicle shall not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard to the speed of such vehicle and the traffic upon and conditions of the highway."

(b) "The driver of any motor truck, bus or horse drawn vehicle shall not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard to the speed of such vehicle and the traffic upon and conditions of the highway."

This section is designed to eliminate a serious cause of hazard and congestion on narrow highways. In the first place, the drivers of all vehicles are required to keep a safe distance behind other vehicles. Many serious rear end collisions have resulted from failure to follow a safe practice in this respect. Paragraph (a) of this section lays a particular duty on the operators of motor trucks and buses. When several trucks are traveling in a compact train it is practically impossible for the vehicles to pass them in safety. A general enforcement of this regulation will be welcomed by the motorists of Massachusetts as a great convenience and safety measure.

Dr. McElwain will comment daily on the new highway rules in the columns of the Boston Evening American.

Hub Business Men To Call on Hoover

Air Romance, Better Than
"Chickie"

What Has Gone Before
MAY PATRICIA DANN,
past, young, death-bringer, sees her little brother, Chickie, call to the shore a diver's life line.
Pat brings up the apparently lifeless body. All hope seems gone when suddenly an airplane swings down out of the sky.
Happy days follow with Pat and Chickie in love. Then comes Barbara Bryce with seductive lure of shadowy eyes.
Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER 4
SHE was dressed in a black flying suit. This enhanced her pallor and the pale brightness of hair fluttering at her forehead.
She was an arousing woman
—Barbara Bryce—with an unconscious gift for presenting herself in picturesque and romantic attitudes.
It was two years since young William Bryce, her dashing, daredevil husband, went down to instant death in the plane.
But she still wore the deepest mourning. She still caused a stir by her white and lovely guilt.
And she flew every twilight in one of her husband's planes about the very scene where he had crashed. A legend sprang up that she was seeking his spirit in those skies which he so loved and wished to conquer. She believed he dwelt there and they awaited her.
Often Guy met her. At times they flew together. Or they stopped to chat after landing. She intrigued him. Those lovely haunting eyes, that perfect pale and the brilliant course of her
She was with child-like gaiety.
"I've a new plane! Oh a beauty!
I'm taking it up just as soon as I can deposit my small son with his grandfather. Please come and watch. Silver streaks a maiden flight."
She flashed when her eyes met his. A faint perfume of jasmine drifted upward as Barbara stepped and took her little boy's hand.
He pulled from her with an excited, "Pardon me!" and pointed to the model. "I want one of them to fly in. I'll make you a pilot."
Barbara laughed. "Well, run
right over and tell me the news.
That's the quickest way to get your order filled. Indeed, I'll be there."
Pleasantly excited, Guy returned to his work table. Two delightful days passed before him; one was romantically said, the other had pleased Guy, and the green eyes looked up to his with wishing him to come. "Ah, the love,"
he murmured.
In the midst of these pleasant moments he became conscious of muttering, frowning undertones.
He turned just as "There's mechanic, man of all work and all things, is here. He was a brashed pencil from him with an excited, "Pardon me!" and pointed to the model. "I want one of them
to fly in. I'll make you a pilot."
Barbara laughed. "Well, run
right over and tell me the news.
That's the quickest way to get your order filled. Indeed, I'll be there."

Fire Marshal Declares Traffic Would Be Slowed and Pedestrians Endangered

The license for the $200,000 garage project in South St. at Sudbury st. was revoked by State Fire Marshal George C. Neal.
The Boston Street Commission granted the license to Maurice Hanauer. The site is that of the Palace Theater and the garage to have been constructed would have housed 400 cars.
The license also gave permission to store 4000 gallons of gasoline. The proposition was fought by many property owners at the hearing before the street commission and when that body granted the license, appeal was made to Marshal Neal.
In his decision the fire marshal said in part: "After a personal survey of the site and surrounding property, I am satisfied that the exercise of the license would increase the danger on the crossings that pedestrians are now exposed to, slow up traffic at connecting points of three streets normally free, increase the chances of collision between motor vehicles, a detriment to the best interests of the city and the safety of the community and against the welfare of the community."

RETURNS $270; MARK 70 YEARS

A 57-year-old gypsy girl with a boy in her arms appeared in Walham District Court charged with stealing $270 from the office of the Household Fuel Co. Miss M. J. Connelly, judge Michael J. Connelly, of the police and imposed an indefinite sentence to Sherborn, but suspended the same for one year.
The young woman was Mrs. Mary Costello and she gave her address as Buller's st., Boston. She pleaded not guilty, but admitted a finding of guilt.
The gypsy was one of two women who entered the office of the company, and as Miss Mary Costello of Clark st., Walham, went to answer the office telephone, the Costello woman is alleged to have reached inside of the safe and taken $270. Restoration of the money was made through counsel.

Godfrey and Byrne End Training for Arena Bout

THEY EACH HAVE A COMMENT OF THE OUTSTANDING HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLES OF THE INDOOR SEASON

GEORGE GODFREY, black shadow of the ring, and Jimmy Byrne, Kentucky cave-man, are in final training today for their ten-round return battle at the Arena tomorrow night.

Despite the excitement attendant upon football games and the election, the advance sale for the fight is the largest in the history of the Arena A. C., and every indication points to a capacity crowd when the colored heavyweight champion and his rival from old Kentucky square away in what should be one of the outstanding heavyweights battles of the indoor season.

Godfrey with his huge bulk and his imposing record, will be a slight favorite to win, but Byrne has believed will bring him a sweeping victory over the black behemoth. They fought in Philadelphia last June, and Byrne gave Godfrey a slight but not a decisive forced to stop in the seventh round because of an injured arm.

The Kentucky cave-man is one of the most courageous heavyweights in the world. In a career that embraces pitched battles with the leading heavyweights, he has never been knocked down and never knocked out, except for the technicality at the hands of Godfrey.

He drew with Young Stribling in Louisville, Ky., and the prize of the Stribling championship was a return match. He knocked out Murray Griffin and Rex Rogers. He whipped George Cook and Big Bill Hartwell and Jack Warren.

A VICTORY, determined body puncher, the headliner he will be in a position to demand recognition from the heavyweights who are engaged in out-stepping him. Godfrey, boxed over by the Turkish fire, using Homer Tomlinson as his chief corner man, and Byrne followed him with a long session against Eddie Egan, Cabana and Jack Frazier. Both heavyweights seem to be in perfect physical condition.

Col. Bob McKinley, whose prime duty is to make the fight a thriller, has arranged a preliminary of one six-round, one six-round and five four-rounds between well-matched fighters.

In the eight-round semi-final bout, Pale Pacheco, rugged Cuban, who has never failed to put up a satisfactory showing, is to meet the head-biting George Cook of the North End, and in the six-round Ledlie Lee will be the favorite of the best-fight fight in the arena, to make his best effort.

HARRY ALLEN of Brockton, old favorite with amateur boxing power, will meet Dan Hurley of the South End in the featured four-rounder, and in the three-rounder, Jack Hicks of Cambridge will be paired with Frank Herman, colored.

Jack Frazier, fighting with Tiger Baranovskiy, with John Lawrence and Willie Watson, Beaumont with Sammy Mango of Dorchester.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (AP)—Baseball's "Old Roman," Charles A. Comiskey, arranged a huddle today with his new manager, Donie Bush, to map out their campaign to rebuild the White Sox.

Although 10 minor league stars including Speedie Holt of the Lancaster, Pa., team, were shipped abroad, Comiskey from these nonplayers, it is known the White Sox are the market for a second baseman who can do some heavy hitting, a catcher, other heavy clubbing outfielders, and a pair of steady pitchers.

The "Old Roman" refused to discuss current reports he was at the Mark Koring, Kansas short stop, and that he planned to send Bill Casali, his high school pitcher, to Washington, in exchange for a right-handed pitcher, possibly Irving Hadley.

HARD BOUT FOR PAT MCGILL

Pat McGill, burly Irishman, finished training for his final match with Abe Kaplan, Jewish heavyweight champion, which is to feature Paul Bowser's weekly tournament at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

The match will be two falls out of three to a finish, and is expected to be the most bitterly contested battle of the season, for both McGill and Kaplan have national reputations. On paper, they seem to be evenly matched, but McGill, because of his long string of sensational victories, rules a slight favorite over the bulky Jewish star.

In the past month McGill has defeated Jack Gannon, Freddy Moray, John Grandovich and August McGill. He has won every match over for the 25-pound Irish star, but he handled the four with an ease and dispatch which made him as the most improved heavyweights wrestler in the game.

The Kaplan-McGill match will share the spotlight with a contest which takes place between Bob "Blubber" McCoy of Cambridge and Harry Manning of Springfield.

It is the first show of the year at which two final matches have been lined, and is the first show actually promoted by Bowser.

For his has been in the Middle West racing his first real championship for main bout fame. In previous matches this season he has wrestled a 45-minute draw with big Steve Stankin, one of the toughest of all the pachyderms, and has battered John Grandovich in 38 minutes.

If he succeeds in beating Manning, he has been promised a main bout by Bowser.

New Field House to Open Soon

CONSTRUCTION work on the new Everett high field house is proceeding rapidly.

This field house, one of the finest of its kind in the country, has been erected as a memorial for the sons of Everett high who gave their lives in the great war.

It will be a fitting monument to the men who answered the call of their country in 1917. The building which has a tapestry brick exterior and a Spanish tile roof, is a beautiful structure.

The new field house has cost the city of Everett $125,000, quite a sum for a structure of this kind. The results fully justify the expenditure, though, for the erection of the building ripe a long felt wish of Everett high.

In the new field house are provided separate locker and dressing rooms for the members of all sports squads, and for the first time. Dressing rooms and showers are there in addition for the coaches and officials of the field house.

The field house is on the west side of the Everett high school field. As soon as the new field house is ready for use, which probably will be before the end of the grid season, the old wooden structure will be torn down.

Newton high faces a capable foe on Saturday at Russell Field, North Cambridge, when John L. Rinder Tech Rinder was beaten by E. C. high last Friday and will trail at the expense of the Garden city team.

SHOWING TEXTILES TO BE 'FAIR'

From present indications, the showing of the textile industry for 1929 will be fairly satisfactory and final results should be about the same as 1928. Milton P. Goodman, president of the Reliance Manufacturing Company (Illinois), says in his monthly review of the industry. The question uppermost in the mind of everyone at this time, is the possible effect upon business of the stock market depression. Mr. Goodman said, "So far, the reaction in the stock market has not affected our trade and I do not believe the losses suffered by market followers will be reflected to any material extent in our future business. Spring merchandise is moving to fair volume. Jobber buying is running about the same as during the past year. Mills are apparently in good shape and are not accumulating stock as an evidence by the lack of offering of old lot merchandise. Prices in the raw and finished ends of the business are satisfactory in view of conditions. "More progressive efforts toward consolidation should be placed in motion. Modern business methods dictate the necessity for elimination of the weak textile methods for the future prosperity of the industry. "The decision of the administrative board to lean to cotton growers on the basis of 16 cents a pound ought to prove a stabilizing influence for raw cotton. These same lines make more solid the position of the grower."

EXPECT CITY TO BUY LAND

Haverhill, Nov. 6.—With a petition signed by many leading citizens presented to the municipal council, it is probable that the city will buy a part of the land corner of Mill and Arlington sts., which is considered a good spot for autos, to improve and widen the thoroughfare.

The agitation for the city to take steps to eliminate the dangerous corner has been on for some time but it had not taken definite form until yesterday when the petition for taking the land was presented to the council.

The residents of Smithy ave. to several months ago petitioned the council to have the corner widened and improved and will have to wait longer as the matter is under consideration from the table made at the council meeting was defeated.

Mayor Forrest V. Smith and Aldermen James M. Connelley and Benjamin P. Forbes voted against taking the order from the table, while Alderman Parkman Flanders and George Martin favored it.

By THE WALL STREET SPECTATOR

Editor's Note: This report is an effort to inform you of daily developments in active stocks. The Boston Evening American takes no responsibility for the statements of the expert who conducts this column, but gives them to you for what they are worth.

- 1—Choose a reliable broker.
- 2—Explain that you want to buy for investment, not speculation.
- 3—Buy outright, or nearly so, and you never will be called upon to protect your account.
- 4—Buy stocks in only those companies that enjoy sound management, have consistent records of earnings expansion and apparent good business outlook for the future.
- 5—If your capital is small and you have dependents, follow Secretary Mellon's advice and buy bonds.

THE EFFECT OF SALES ON THE POINT OF MODERN HOMES

New York, Nov. 6.—Small shops were the principal buyers of machinery and machine-tools in a week marked by nothing spectacular in a business war. American Machine tool reports. Conditions as to demand, deliveries and prices are about the same as they were in the week preceding. The used tool market is still active and the call for single tools and replacement or production changes continues in fair volume.

The slump in the stock market has had no adverse reaction in the machine-tool market. According to some opinion, moneys used for various purposes will now be taken out of the market.

Driveline automotive production in Detroit has cut deeply into the volume of sales to this industry and conditions here are far from favorable. Milwaukee's output of automobile parts and accessories also has been curtailed, but purchases by small machine shops are bringing the total up to normal.

Demand for milling machines is on the increase and the growth of production changes continues in fair volume. The slump in the stock market has had no adverse reaction in the machine-tool market.

Good Housebr Narrow Lot, at $9100

OR C. HUNTER ARCHT. WORKS, NATIONAL MODERN HOMES BUREAU, INC.

WELL PLANNED SMALL HOME By National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc.

WITH unlimited ground space, or with a wide lot, the type of plan adopted for a home may assume one of a variety of forms, but for the restricted frontage of the narrow lot, the problem of the plan arrangement becomes more serious. The fixed width requires a plan that is deep from front to back and results in ill-proportioned rooms unless due allowance of study has been given to the layout.

The architects have planned the accompanying house, A-59, to give generous accommodations for the average family, and at the same time, a house that is really suitable for a narrow lot.

The house proper measures but 21 feet, 6 inches across the front, with the entrance porch projecting three feet six inches on one side, making a total overall width of 25 feet.

The plan layout which the architects have arranged allows the entrance porch, the hallway, the service entrance, access to the coal bin, all from the drive, a very desirable feature.

The living room extends across the entire front of the house, it is of good proportions, has three sides exposed and is provided with a generous open fireplace in one end; it is a cheerful, livable room. A large living porch opens from the living room.

The entrance porch is at the side of the house and a small compact hall serves directly to the living room and the dining room, while the kitchen is reached through a short passage where hanging space for coats and such is provided.

The second floor provides three bedrooms, a bathroom and the required closets. A generous attic and a cellar are provided.

COMPLETE working plans and specifications of the house illustrated above may be obtained for a nominal sum from the National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc. Any technical questions regarding this house will be answered without cost or obligation. Address the National Modern Homes Bureau, Real Estate Department, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Refer to House A-59.
